RE: Response to Grand Jury Report – Timeliness of General Plan Update

This Following is the Planning Director's response to the April 15, 2013 Grand Jury's Ad Hoc General Plan Committee Final Report titled "Timeliness of General Plan Updates for The People's Protection" (the Report). The Report provides an overview of the County's past, current, and future efforts to develop a program to update its long overdue General Plan. As noted within the Report, the various elements of the General Plan and the accompanying Community Plans have evolved over time. However, efforts for a comprehensive update have ultimately faded due to several factors.

The Report points out these factors which include the anticipated cost of a comprehensive update and the inability for the community to cooperate, creating a difficult hurdle for the County. The Report points out that a segment of the population is concerned about "abdication of constitutional rights" that some believe would result from seeking the necessary grant funding sources to provide for the desired update of the Plan.

Per the report, as Director, I am to respond to items 5-8 accordingly, and I offer the following comments:

FINDING 5: Only "new construction" fees prescribed a set aside portion of the fee to be reserved for General Plan update expenses.

RESPONSE: Effectively updating a General Plan, Housing Element and Code Update requires a collection of fees in the amount of $85k to $115k annually. A new fee schedule was adopted at the December 18, 2012 Board Meeting, which included an increase in the General Plan Maintenance Fee. This update consisted of increasing fees to 0.50% of building valuation and a flat application fee of $50 for Director Permits and $75 for other select Planning Applications. With the new fees, the Department is anticipating annual collection in the amount of $55k. To make up the shortfall, further funding opportunities, such as grants, need to be utilized to completely fund all required work.

I believe the General Plan Maintenance Fee is consistent with the intent of Grand Jury's finding that all "new construction" fees set aside a portion towards updating the plan.

RECOMMENDATION 5: All fees collected by the Planning Department should include a set aside portion to pay for General Plan update expenses.

RESPONSE: This will not be implemented. Moving all funds collected for "new construction" is infeasible. Monies/fees that are collected are identified to provide specific services to individuals that are paying said fees. For example, paying the fee on a subdivision map goes towards employing the planners, support staff, and facilities for the specific responsibility of planning applications for consistency with the General Plan. This would be the same for the General Plan Maintenance Fee, which can only be spent on General Plan Update activities. By moving all monies to one activity, the other activities would be unfunded, and work would not be preformed.

FINDING 6: A segment of the community BELIEVES STRONGLY that any plan that meets state or federal law cannot be in the best interest of the local citizens of Trinity County.

RESPONSE: I agree with this finding.

RECOMMENDATION 6: You can convince them or out-shout them, but you cannot ignore them. Taking the time – to explain how the general plan is the county's best assurance that we are protecting our own interests-is the job of everyone in the process.

RESPONSE: I agree with the recommendation of the Grand Jury that listening, understanding, and education on everyone's part is essential. However, we cannot ignore federal or state laws. Planning should represent the "will of the people." The General Plan is the vehicle that exerts the will of the people.

To allow for this to be accomplished, Staff, Commission, Board and State Law required the process to be open and transparent. From the American Planning Association: "Plans are fundamentally an expression of citizen input and engagement. Any good planning process is fully open and transparent. Planning relies on meaningful public participation because only through shared understanding, involvement and support will any plan be successful." The Department feels the only way to be successful is to be open and transparent with full participation.

The Planning Department makes every attempt to notify the public of upcoming discussions. If we were adopting a new element, the public would be involved at the draft stage through workshops and meetings. As the document progresses, then the public can be involved again at Planning Commission Meetings and finally the Board of Supervisor's Meeting. However, Staff has found that no matter how much it is advertised in advance or how hard we work to "get the word out," we cannot reach everyone. Further, understanding of the General Plan takes time and study. Staff will continue to utilize outreach meetings to try to assist in understanding.

FINDING 7: State law does take a more urbanized approach to the general plan elements.

RESPONSE: I agree and have found it to be frustrating.

RECOMMENDATION 7: Continue to take every advantage to lobby with other rural counties for a more nuanced set of regulations.

RESPONSE: I agree and recognition of this "nuance" needs to be advanced in Sacramento via rural jurisdiction's alliances with similar areas. This difference in rural realities was somewhat reflected by the comments made here recently by the Secretary of Agriculture as he promoted rural communities and economies. This acknowledgement makes a potential alliance on the federal level as well. With Staff's involvement, the message of rural land issues has been heard at many levels, and will continue to be as long as we are involved.

We comment that at state levels, Staff and the Board have been involved with peer groups, California State Association of Counties (CSAC), Rural County Representatives of California (RCRC), and California County Planning Directors Association (CCPDA) to be sure the message is carried that rural counties have different issues and needs relative to the larger entities within the State. This means that we face a constant battle to ensure everyone understands that one size does not fit all when it comes to planning in California. We continue to advocate for this position.

I have seen this issue create a significant concern that planning documents will look to force rural communities more towards the urban core. In Trinity, this is not true, but again it needs to be noted that much of the focus of any plan, whether in Trinity or elsewhere will be on the more developed areas, as these are the areas that will tend to grow over time.

FINDING 8: The complexity of the law requires that consultants who have specialized in rural counties be retained when the Planning Department itself is not staffed to accomplish the task.

RESPONSE: I believe the current use of consulting contractors is consistent with the intent of Grand Jury's finding.

RECOMMENDATION 8: Consider farming out some projects to other qualified county agencies, departments or qualified non-profits such as DOT, RCD, Watershed Research and Training Center and HRN, thus minimizing consultant expense.

RESPONSE: We agree with this approach only to individuals that are experience and knowledgeable concerning planning issues.

This is currently being done on the Safety Element by having that task led by the RCD. Further, the planning process itself invites participation of agencies, departments, and interest groups as the Planning Department is really a "clearinghouse" for all these groups. The General Plan is a document that attempts to outreach and incorporate all concerns and find consensus for the future.

The complication is that most areas do require a variety of specialized skills, e.g. technical studies such as traffic engineering, noise analysis, water and air quality, geographic information technology, various biological and resources assessment disciplines, as well as community outreach, organizational, and report writing disciplines. While local resources are available and surely will be utilized, professional assistance cannot be overlooked, otherwise we will not be successful.

Preparing a high-level report, such as an element within the General Plan, requires the Department to utilize experts to bring what is prepared to conclusion. Planning Professionals both in the Department and serving as Consultants have the ability and experience to weed through what is important and significant and pull it together in a complete and inclusive document. Further, with the information, they can pull the results together and get it into current presentable form that is appropriate for circulation here in the County and elsewhere in the State. While it can be expensive, you are hiring experience and paying for results.

While the community will have many important issues, some issues might not be significant, and draw from already limited resources that can be used more wisely elsewhere. Experience both on a staff level and with Consultants usually prevents this from happening. Doing solely as suggested will only lead the County down the road that it has already traveled.

Sincerely,

Richard Tippett
